REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:
  - With regard to claim 1, as the closest reference Cohen et al (US 5,995,342) shows a thin-film magnetic head having an opposing face that opposes a recording medium, the thin-film magnetic head including: a lower core layer extending from the opposing face in a height direction; a magnetic layer directly or indirectly connected to the lower core layer at a position a predetermined distance away from the opposing face in the height direction; and a coil toroidally wound around the magnetic layer, the coil including: a plurality of first coil segments that cross over the magnetic layer, the first coil segments being separated from each other with predetermined gaps therebetween in the height direction; a coil insulating layer covering the first coil segments, the magnetic layer being formed on the coil insulating layer; a plurality of second coil segments that cross over the magnetic layer, the second coil segments being formed on the coil insulating layer; and a plurality of bank layers disposed at two sides of the magnetic layer in the track width direction, the bank layers being electrically connected with ends of the first coil segments; wherein ends of each second coil segment in the track width direction are electrically connected with upper faces of the bank layers to connect ends of the adjacent first coil layers with each other via the second coil segments, thereby forming a toroidal coil; a lower magnetic pole layer formed above the lower core layer and a gap layer including a nonmagnetic metal material formed on the lower magnetic pole layer, the lower magnetic pole layer and the gap layer being formed by plating, wherein the magnetic layer is formed on the gap layer and functions as an upper magnetic pole layer; the lower magnetic pole layer, the gap layer, and the magnetic layer constitute a first composite structure; the width of the first composite structure in the track width direction at the opposing face defines a track width  $T_w$ ; but fails to show that each banking layer includes a second composite structure including a first sublayer including the same material as the lower magnetic pole layer, a second sublayer including the same material as the gap layer, and a third sublayer including the same material as the magnetic layer.

- With regard to claim 18, Cohen et al shows that the bank layer is made of Cu, which is not a magnetic material.
- With regard to claim 19, Cohen et al further shows that the bank layer includes Cu, but fails to show that it further includes at least one protective layer including Ni, CuNi, or NiP.
- Applicant asserts: the present relates to a head in which an electrical connection segments and second coil segments can be easily and reliably formed and in which the second coil segments are properly insulated from a magnetic pole (Specification, p. 1).

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
